

Decoding the Natural and the Interests from Dan Bacon's The Flow

Ashish Xavier Varghese

Independent Researcher

Abstract: The nature of human relationship is always long discussed phenomenon and subjected for multiple interpretations. It ranges from Individual and his self, Family and the biological and sexual Antithesis. The nature relationship between biological male and female is considered as a valued entity by the means of force of attraction rather than an accident or a preexisted outcome. The article explores the element of naturalness in relationship between Male and Female and the different stages of developing the interests.

Keywords: Sex, Development, Attraction, Intimacy

1. Introduction

The individual opinion really matters when the case of human relationship involves a discussion of behaviors in relationships. It is because that male and female perspective about relationship is different. Even though evolved from same species Male and Female Homo Sapiens are different from Male and Female of Animals. The binding force of relationship is absent with Animals and it only exhibits instantaneous sexual gratification. Based on the behavioural patterning intimate relationship between men and women are different. "It is no secret that men and women operate differently, especially in terms of emotionality" (Formica).

Dan Bacon's The Flow narrates the stream of human relationships and portrays the effective ways for winning the sexual, intellectual competition of the sexes. It necessarily estimates for individual and sexual improvisation in the human relationship. This article examines the naturalness and the dimensions of interests in building human relationships.

2. The Stream of Life

God created Humans in his likeness and image. He created them in male and female, states the book of Genesis. It is evident that men and women are same but belongs to different species. They are different by the means of sensibility, temperament, reasoning, capabilities. They bear same neurological compositions but different patterning. Men and Women are two different entities of separate capacities. These opposite extremes become problematic when there is an association between the sexes. Their coalition becomes challenging and results in failure because of the lack of awareness about the opposite sex. The personal psychology which constitutes to the mind set determines the temperament towards the partner. Behaviours, which includes actions and verbal- no verbal communications which consists of body language and articulated words are also important. The individual perspective and its cooperative nature determines the viability of the relationship.

As far as the man is concerned. "Men are, as a general rule, physical creatures" and hunters since the ages therefore are associated with availability and proximity. The quality of availability implies physical association with partner and meeting emotional and sexual needs. From the hunter perspective this does not require the necessity of communication. Women, on the other hand are "contemplative creatures". For them physicality is associated with emotionality. "women express emotions, share personal feelings, relate stories, and listen empathetically" Male's emotional availability triggers their sexuality. In handling the conflicts, both expresses significant but polar responses.

Relationship satisfaction which is the key to success is rooted in the intimacy of the partners. It is derived from the partners' experiences about the other and the connectedness. This involves trust, validation and acceptance. Emotional expressiveness between male and female are different. It is the measuring tool for the intimacy. Women explore the intimacy and men win the intimacy through competitive dialogue. The journey of life thus becomes a matter of competitive performance.

3. The Communication

Communication is the integral part to the success of the relationship. Relationship, companionship and sex are accelerated by the gravity of the communications. Effective communication comes from learning the surroundings and the partner's persona through the behaviors. Initiating the interaction and developing the connections takes the things to next level. Since man is dominant, the next level is about the triggering to organize the pattern. But it becomes "challenging and unpredictable" (Bacon 23) unless man creates demand and woman wants it more. The more communication becomes effective it works on the sexual chemistry.

The underlying genetic code of woman, precisely Female Human being is that to place her with a suitable male, who will be a protector, "able to produce favourable offspring, which he will then help in raise in a safe environment by being a provider" (60). The articulation power rather communication is important in portraying himself as a potential male. Better skills give him better chances to survive the race of the sexes and provide personal confidence, satisfaction and financial independence.

Volume 10 Issue 1, January 2021

www.ijsr.net

Licensed Under Creative Commons Attribution CC BY

4. The Continuum

The continuum of evolution is manifested by the processes of Natural selection. Naturalness signifies the state of being of original. It is an action of spontaneity. In the relationship naturalness refers to the immediate capability of man to attract woman by the means of his traits. The reality of the attraction is that “women find handsome men attractive, they feel a stronger attraction for male behaviors and traits” (62). This is important and at the same time can be useless. After all it is subjected for women to how to feel with man’s personality. Therefore A good looking man with confidence and physically strong does with attractiveness and personality makes the needful.

The point is that like the acquisition of behaviour attraction is natural and a unconscious process. It automatically triggers woman. It is his Masculine energy that which consists of strong and powerful sexual charge attracts the opposite charge inside the woman. It does not happen for a neutral man or a weak man. Therefore naturalness is the continuum in attraction of woman charged by the strong male sexual energy, Signified by the sexual polarity. Focus of natural attraction is about becoming more masculine.

5. Dimensions of Interest and matters of Resistance

Interests have pivotal role in developing and maintain the relationship. Interests advance the relationship. The stage which is closed exhibits some kind of nervousness. It is not personal but it is an outcome of unsocial and apologetic behaviour. The openness that the female offer is about the validation of the particular male approached her. It is the reciprocation of fun, ability and energy drive, in which she has a responsive nature.

The stages of interests and its development play a significant part in a successful escalation in relationship and takes into the next level. After all recognition and regulation of interest breaks the physical barriers and initiates to the male female intimacy

Natural Resistance from one sex to opposite sex usually expressed as a contrary to the natural attraction. Male behaviour, body language, level of energy attracts female. But female by the means of same indices expresses resistance. It matters because she expresses herself as an emotional entity. “it’s not that women are uninterested, but that they are pickier about whom they choose for trusts”(Seidman). Such “no” in intimacy “it doesn’t mean that she doesn’t want to proceed, but usually just a way of protecting her self-image and creating sexual tension” (120), the intimacy and flow of relationship can be ruined if man in such a situation becomes uncomfortable.

So the role of the man is to lead the woman where they really want to with him.

6. Conclusion

In the evolutionary flow the modern man exhibits huge difference from the primitive male. The post-industrial – internet society made male human being weak. In such a context The Flow provides new insights for the development for men to outperform from their selves. The Flow is a guide for transition from beta male to alpha male.

For man to become natural is only possible by means of expressing his innate charisma and attracting female. Only by showing such expression of sexual energy he will be presented as a potential male. Recognizing and validating Interests makes the intimacy strong and is the key for a successful relationship.

References

- [1] Bacon, Dan. The Flow. The Modern Man Company, 2016.
- [2] Formica, Michael J. “Gender Differences, Sexuality and Emotional Infidelity.” Psychology Today, Sussex Publishers, 8 Jan. 2009, www.psychologytoday.com/us/blog/enlightened-living/200901/gender-differences-sexuality-and-emotional-infidelity?collection=162112. Accessed 20 November 2020.
- [3] Seidman, Gwendolyn. “6 Myths About Men, Women, and Relationships.” Psychology Today, Sussex Publishers, 1 Oct. 2014, www.psychologytoday.com/us/blog/close-encounters/201410/6-myths-about-men-women-and-relationships. Accessed 20 November 2020.