

Ethics, Trust and Cyber Security in Today's Modern World

Somnath Bhagwan Mahale¹, Pradnya Dongardive²

¹Assistant Professor in English, Arts, Commerce and Science College, Taharabad. Tal Baglan Dist. Nashik, India
Email: goldsmith.somnath@gmail.com

²Assistant Professor in English, Arts, Commerce and Science College, Taharabad. Tal Baglan Dist. Nashik, India
Email: [pradnyad.acbcs\[at\]aef.edu.in](mailto:pradnyad.acbcs[at]aef.edu.in)

Integrity without knowledge is weak and useless, and knowledge without integrity is dangerous and dreadful.

Dr Samuel Johnson (1709-1784)

Abstract: The following research paper mainly focuses on the moralistic views regarded as essential parts of human life. Ethics the main part of the human system is one of the very important factors of life. It molds and nurtures our life as a whole. Without ethics man's life is incomplete and its impact is often considered as a virtue. Ethics along with trust makes a good bond between the society and forms great relations that help us to become competent and successful in our lives. These two adds a dimension to the modern life of gadgets using cyber network. This paper also adds new points which are helpful for us all and its usage will encompass us to a higher level.in the field of cybersecurity these notions are very important as without them nothing will move ahead in order to become successful.

Keywords: ethics, trust, cybersecurity, virtue, success

1. Introduction

The present paper focuses on the current issues in the field of Cybersecurity, Trust and Ethics. These are the prime factors of any society. The quotation from the great Dr Samuel Johnson serves and helps the researcher to analyze and give his insights on the theme of today's international Conference on Digital Forensic and Cybersecurity.

2. Literature Reviews

A sincere effort in comprising the main thoughts in any the research paper, which largely focuses on the ethics and trust in context of cybersecurity. The most needed qualities in the modern times. Without them the life will be incomplete and will destroy the very essence of human being. This will attach to the very being of man and what he is supposed to do for the betterment of humanity.

3. Approach/ Methodology

The researcher has used qualitative method for the paper as it comprises the qualities and attributes important for the well being of the society. As a representative of the society one must work for the shaping and nurturing of life and mind.

The modern age is in need of great morality, ethics and trust to sustain at a time when everywhere chaos is nearing by. The main ideas behind this various scenario is that most of the people in the society or for that matter lacks conscience and morality as well as civics. Largely these all comprise the then behavior of the society. Education makes an important factor in such situations. Even in most cases it's the highly technical persons in the field of electronics and those under studied or half educated try to deceive or cheat their customers The main purpose of this International Conference is purely based on the Digital Forensic and Cybersecurity. This term serves the purpose as well as our contributions in the field of Digitalization. Even in small cities also the term Cybersecurity has reached. Its influence on the masses is equally important and its growing higher day by day. One feels that unless we follow some guidelines or ethics while using digital devices the things will fall apart. Our initiatives in every single transaction or while working in various technical field grows to a higher point. Because if we don't have the ethics our credibility will be zero and thereon the trust we are supposed to get will be disappeared. We need to have conscience among every one of us to build the great world of belief and trust. In today's time certainly these two things are seen on a lesser extent. Unless we have this ethics, we won't build any everlasting confidence in our social context. It has become more Important in our day-to-day life. Ethically correct is the most essential character in the present scenario. This shall and should be the main source every employer seeks when he selects his or her employees' this, the companies, entrepreneurs and the managers, corporates seek good qualities in the staff. The whole structure of any firms, company, business schools, electronic networks all are built upon the ethics of the human beings. The fruits of these is the flourishing of both the head of the company and his subordinates, workers and all staff. Ethics, credibility, trust, friendly congenial atmosphere., and aim on the actual task or the work to make any office a progressed one. We have seen for years and decades that those who had good ethical, moralistic views along with human values became famous and well known to the world. This has to be one of the good qualities essential for any work. As a representative of the society one must instill values, morality, manners and ethics to become a good person.

Trust comes when you believe in something and it proves trustworthy. Again, trust doesn't come easily it also has to be in the genes. One will either get it through family blood or can learn it seriously. All the great nations are built on trust. Belief in people, being loyal and their nurturing. This will help us in

Volume 15 Issue 4, April 2026

Fully Refereed | Open Access | Double Blind Peer Reviewed Journal

www.ijsr.net

tackling the corruption, data misuse, societal discord and a good steady progress in the field of governance, business, and digital companionships will fuse the people with values most essential like honesty, transparency and importantly responsibility for the nation building. The whole conduct on our part needs to be shaken up, instilled with simple honest people with ethics are much need of the time. If any one of these qualities is lacked then the whole system of trust and credibility, will crumble, that's why these qualities are the crucial one for the building of any enterprise. For ex. If we do not have either of these qualities, the long-term success will affect us. Our customers, our relationships with society, our students even with ourselves certain observations are needed. In almost all the fields, the field of education these qualities are must from a young age. The society we want to build are to be instilled these very core values, so that when they grow up, they will have this integrity to go further in their chosen field of enterprise. The modern writers like David Maister, Robert Gaillard's book "The Trusted Advisor is a good book to understand the parameters and the thinking about Trust. It comprises all the necessary qualities to become a good sensible, sincere citizen with credibility, Reliability. In Mary Manjikian's book we understand the basic framework in decision making, thought on whether the given task is of beneficial to the society or not. Also, he points out the values and beliefs and the professional codes of ethics. In the modern age these qualities are seen less and less. We need to train every one to follow professional ethics and teach to the young minds in order to have good governance. A disciplines practice will make us successful in our selected field.

We need good communication process in moving further in our life. We need to set examples for the posterity and become an ideal for the followers. We need the societal well-being for the function of society, requiring conscious and serious effort from every single citizen, businesses and governments. Our syllabuses also need to invest in these values, professional trainings would help the workers, teachers, small scale industries, hospitals, giant business institutions in making us a better person. We have to have better equipped leaders, teachers, workers for our great future. In all contexts such as social, cultural and economic comes great responsibility in the choice we make. These ethical footprints do matter in our individual success. These are the very foundation on which our trust, loyalty, belief, progress rests on. An overall training and orientation is needed in all the sectors of business and entrepreneurship. This will help the common public to understand the gains and the losses of cyber network. This will help each one of us to be aware while doing transactions or work or be a helping hand to the needy ones. This awareness will put great impact and trust in the mind of everyone. Such things are already in practice but with the help from such conferences a fully conscious society can be made into a trustworthy one.

4. Findings

While studying the measure terms such as ethics and trust the researcher went through the ideologies of Immanuel Kant, Soren Kirkegaard and Thoreau and even Jiddu Krishnamurthy who followed the path of truth and trust and ethics as the parameters of human life. These ideas and thoughts helped the researcher to understand and Analyse the concepts and then put forth in the writing.

At the end I would like to mention few things that will encompass the topic of ethics, trust and cybersecurity. A good practice to be followed with great thinking before taking any task into the practice. This will save as well as warn the public and the authority. A society full of conscience can be created and would be beneficial for the coming generations

References

- [1] Quote from Dr Samuel Johnson's, 1774 A Vanity of Human Wishes,
- [2] David Maister, Robert Gaillard's book 2001 "The Trusted Advisor". Atlantic Books.
- [3] Mary Manjikian's ,2022 "Cybersecurity Ethics". Routledge