1. Introduction

At the present in competitive world, publicizing and advertising are very important in the objectives of; increasing sales and profits, encouraging trial and usage and reminding of advertising. As David Berlos's SMCR model of communication said that important elements of communication are S (Source) - M (Message) - C (Channel) - R (Receiver). But one important issue of the criticism of David Berlos's SMCR model of communication is "no feedback" that makes us doesn't know about the effect of the communication. Then, we cannot evaluate and develop the effectiveness of the communication if we don't know the feedback from receivers which this research focused on this topic to check the effectiveness of using set up candid clips as new media for the development of using this kind of media.

dependent variable which is attitude or behavior changing [6]. Communication via new media in the form of set up candid clip is independent variable in this study that caused the attitude or behavior changing to the brands that used set up candid clips as new media for publicizing and advertising.

Since more than 100 years ago, we have traditional media for communication such as newspaper, television, radio, and cinema. All these worked until a decade ago when new media emerged with all the fanfare of technological innovation [3]. At the present, there're new media that is used via internet or social network and mobile devices such as Facebook, Twitter, Instagram, Youtube, LINE and etc. Social media is a form of communication that is accessible to all levels of people in any place and anytime which spread out extensively around the world at the present under the whole time development of computer technology. Social media tends to be priority media for people in the future [5].

Viral marketing is one of the important issues in this study. Viral marketing is popular for marketing communication via new media which this kind of marketing must reside social networks [2]. Because of the publicizing and advertising trend nowadays prefer to produce the media that is cheap and quick communication. Then, viral marketing is the solution that makes the brand or product can do the publicizing and advertising in lower budget and reach the majority audience rapidly.

We've noticed the trend of viral marking that many of them are combined with communication as new media through social media. We've seen both positive and negative feedback from the audience of communication via new media especially in the form of set up candid clip from studying in this research.

According to the significance of communication, viral marketing, the technology development that cause the new

Basic elements of persuasion consist of the external view of receiver (internal difference of sender, internal difference of message, difference of media and internal difference of situation) and receiver (demography, attitude, knowledge, emotions, importance of issue and means of perception)[4]. Figure 16: Result from 50 representative samples after watching 3 set up candid clips of Scotch 100 and Snickers.

There're 22 people (44%) who like communication via new media in the form of set up candid clip and 28 people (56%) who don't like communication via new media in the form of set up candid clip. Communication via new media in the form of set up candid clip is effective for female, in the age of 31-35 and 41+ in the educational level of secondary education.

For the result of in-depth interview from 2 experts in advertising and publicizing fields, they have 6-8 year experience in advertising and publicizing and won many international advertising awards including Cannes 2012. They used to work on viral marketing project which used the new media for publicizing and advertising via social network but they haven't worked in the form of set up candid clip. They think that people like communication via new media in the form of set up candid clip is because of the new and strange presentation form and the reason that people don't like communication via new media in the form of set up candid clip is because people don't like to get deceived. The strengths of communication via new media in the form of set up candid clip are getting awareness overnight and get followed by the realistic set up. The weakness of communication via new media in the form of set up candid clip is bad brand image in case of bad content. The opportunity of communication via new media in the form of set up candid clip is in good direction if it's based on good content, not too violent form. The threats of communication via new media in the form of set up candid clip are the bad content which cause bad image to the brand and audience emotions including consumers' rejection which would not worth the investment for this kind of publicizing and advertising.

5. Conclusion of the Study

As the findings of this study from content analysis, result of questionnaire and in-depth interview, we can conclude that communication via new media in the form of set up candid clip is rather effective way of communication in quick awareness getting (talk of the town) but in short period of time (short-term trend). It would be suitable for the product or brand that requires reminding to the product or brand by not concern about positive or negative feedback.

Communication via new media in the form of set up candid clip is effective about satisfaction to female more than male, in the age of 31-35 and 41+ more than the other ages and in the level of education of secondary education more than the other levels of education.

Both Scotch 100 and Snickers' set up candid clips were effective in awareness and satisfaction to the audience. But the effectiveness of satisfaction of Snickers' set up candid clip is less than Scotch 100's. Both Scotch 100 and Snickers' set up candid clips were not effective in circulation increase. On the contrary, they decrease the circulation of Scotch 100 and Snickers evaluated by result of questionnaire. But Snickers set up candid clip cause lower circulation than Scotch 100's.

According to the analysis of open ended question about the reasons that representative samples like or don't like communication via new media in the form of set up candid clip, it can be divided into 3 groups which are positive reasons, negative reasons and neutral reasons or no comment. Communication via new media in the form of set up candid clip is still rather effective in communicating with audience.

The conclusion from in-depth interview from 2 experts, we can conclude that the content is more important than the trend. Communication via new media should be based on good content in proper form. Because the set up candid clip in some issues are too sensitive to some target group audience. It can cause disappointment to the audience leading to bad image to the brand or product which will decrease the circulation and satisfaction from the customers. Communication via new media is a lot cheaper than other media but serious consideration of content and form is highly required.

6. Further Scope of the Study

The researchers should find the way to get the circulation result or some other issues instead of asking the confidential information of circulation from brand or product's companies for effectiveness evaluation.
