

Figure 2D: Parasternal short axis view at the papillary muscle level showing a hypoechoic mass attached to the RV free wall, suggestive of Type-B thrombus.