And Karaga Districts Of Northern Ghana", International Journal of Scientific & Technology Research, II (3), pp. 25-35, 2013.

Author Profile

Oyonga Augustine Oyonga received the B.Sc. and M.Sc. degrees in Geology and Petroleum Geophysics from the Department of Geology, University of Calabar, Calabar, Nigeria in 2004 and 2010, respectively. He also holds a certificate in Hydrogeophysics and Water Well Drilling, and has undergone several trainings in software applications (Petrel, Opendtect etc). He is currently a lecturer and a PhD student in the Department of Geology, University of Calabar, Calabar.

V .N. Obim is currently a lecturer in the Department of Geology, University of Calabar, Calabar, Nigeria. He holds B.Sc. and M.Sc. degrees in Petroleum Engineering from the 1st and 2nd Russian University of Oil and Gas, Moscow, Russia.

S. I. Ugar holds B.Sc. (2003) and M.Sc. (2010) degrees in Geology and Petroleum Geophysics respectively from the Department of Geology, University of Calabar, Calabar, Nigeria. He is currently a lecturer and a PhD student in Structural Geology and Geophysics.