

The Turning Theory

Dhruv P. Patel

U.G. Student (Mechanical Engineering), Government Engineering College, Patan, 384265, Gujarat, India

Abstract: The theory says that every turn you are going to take will decide your future or change your future sometimes on small scale sometimes on big scale but it's going to change.

Keywords: future, turns, environment, change

Our life can go on many ways. Here it is not related to some heavy words like passion or heart that takes your life on one specific path or your desire whatever it is.

Turning theory as per its name related with turns on the way or road or path whatever you want to consider it's just a name.

The question is how?

Suppose you are going to market and you are on the way to market. Now the main thing is there are two ways that lead you to market one left and a second is straight.

Now from your home you had decided to go on left but you forgot or by some another reason you go straight then theory is applied and as theory says your future is going to change and the reason behind that is.

The things which will go to surround you on that way change

Your observation on that way will change

You can say that almost everything will go to change on this way respect to that way

Here your environment is going to change than defiantly your thoughts are going to change and your thoughts changes then it will effect on your future but it may be small it may be big

Examples:

1. In the simple case we assume that you are going to buy ice-cream you decided to go on left but you take straight and you meet one of your friends on that way you tell him the reason for going to market and then he suggest you the another flavor of ice-cream and after this case this new flavor becomes your favorite so here its change your future and somewhere your present too
2. In this more complex case suppose we take a man actively seeking for work and thinking about starting a new business. He is going on the way for searching and to get inspiration for new business now as per theory if he takes another way instead of predetermining one it is going to change his future on big scale

How? Suppose if he goes on the left which is predetermined he find big showrooms and malls and he thinks that if I would have money I can do this but there is not enough money. Now if he go straight he find some small shops and see a pizza shop and thinks that he can start one in his area so the future is changed.

Here theory depends on the observations, your moving velocity, your thinking ability, your concentration, ultimately the environment which surrounds you in that particular way (path) and this all start with turn.

The one thing should be noted with care is that the theory is applied when you take the turn which is not chosen by you earlier.

If you take the turn or way which is chosen by you earlier the theory does not exist there (but your moving velocity, your concentration, and the environment changes can change your future).

There is also relative turning theory:

This relative turning theory involves more than one person. Suppose you are going on the way which is chosen by you earlier so there is no application of turning theory but at same time if your friend takes a turn than the theory is applied there and if he meets you on that way then the future of both can change sometimes on the small and some time on the big scale.

The most interesting thing about this theory is this is happening all around and also sometimes it creates the chain.

Author Profile

Dhruv Patel is pursuing degree of Mechanical Engineering from Government Engineering College, Patan (2015-2019).